Unraveling Inequity in our Streets

May 14, 2021 | Virtual Conference

Become a Sponsor

Sponsoring the "Unraveling Inequity in our Streets" conference is a valuable way to show support for equitable transportation planning in Oklahoma.

This virtual, one-day conference will bring together interested residents and an estimated 100 engineers, planners, and community officials from across Oklahoma and the region, to learn and share their expertise on a variety of topics including:

- Addressing equity in transportation
- Community engagement strategies
- Planning with youth
- Creating streets for people

Our conference will connect your business to private and public-sector engineers and planners, as well as elected and appointed officials. It is more important now than ever to create opportunities to have dialogue and training related to equity in our streets.

In order to keep this important conference free for attendees, we need your help. Increase awareness of your organization and services by sponsoring.

This conference will be held virtually in order to protect speakers and participants.

For more information, visit tulsaplanning.org/conference or contact Jane Ziegler at jziegler@incog.org or by calling 918-579-9427.
