About the Implementation Monitoring Program

The Tulsa Planning Office monitors and supports implementation of adopted small area plans. Small area plans engage communities to create a vision for their community in the next 10-20 years, and include recommendations related to land-use, transportation, housing, and other topics. They are intended as a framework for City and community partner actions, as funding and resources are available. All figures, statuses, and charts are current to July 1, 2019.

Definitions

- 'Complete' recommendations have been fully implemented
- 'On-going' recommendations have been initiated and are of a continuous nature
- 'In-progress' recommendations have been partially completed or are underway
- 'Not initiated' recommendations have not yet been initiated
- 'Obsolete' recommendations are not currently recommended for initiation based on a change of conditions or other factors since plan adoption
- 'Unknown' recommendations are those which Tulsa Planning Office staff have not yet been able to verify an implementation status.

Summary of Implementation Status

This report tracks implementation efforts for all plans adopted as amendments to planitulsa.

There are currently 14 active small area plans, with 1,193 plan recommendations. Of these, 453 (38%) are complete (153) or on-going (300). An additional 249 (21%) are in-progress. 464 recommendations (39%) have not been initiated, 24 (2%) have been identified as obsolete, and 3 (0.3%) have a status that is unknown.

What's Next

As we move forward into fiscal year 2020, the Tulsa Planning Office continues to support implementation of small area plans in a variety of ways:

- Tracking, monitoring, and geographic analysis or recommendations
- Overlap of small area plan recommendations with strategic planning
- Coordination with City departments and other agencies to advance recommendations through department budgets
- Creation of Neighborhood Implementation Guide with resources for neighborhoods to work on plan implementation

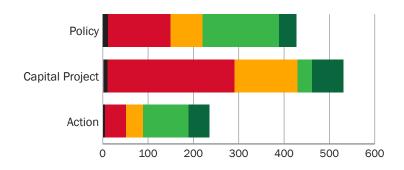

Implementation Status by Recommendation Type

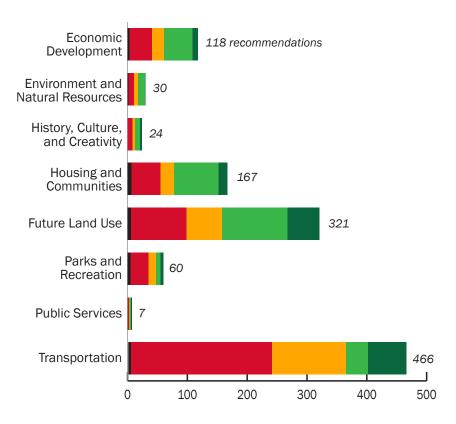

Each recommendation was categorized as a policy, capital project, or action. 'Capital project' was the largest recommendation type, with 531 recommendations. 'Policy' recommendations had the highest percentage that are complete or on-going (62%), while 'Capital project' had the lowest, with 19% complete or on-going.

Implementation Status by planitulsa Chapter

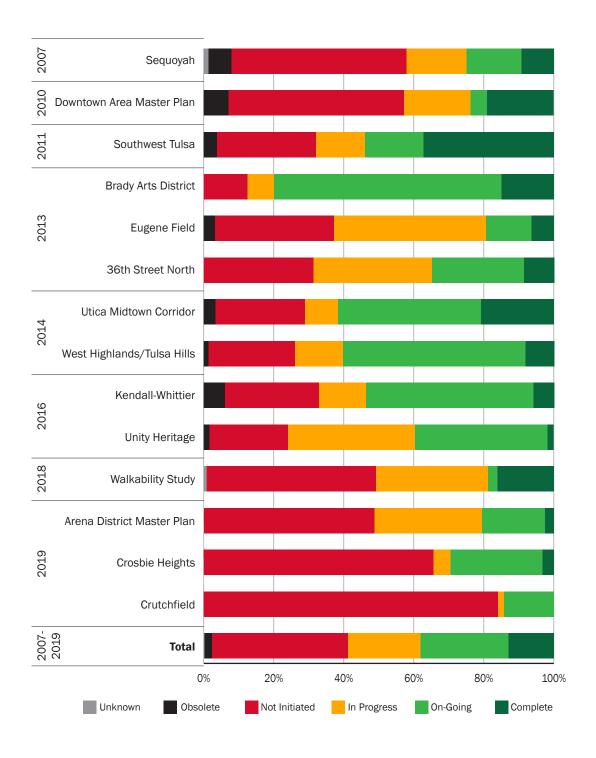

Each recommendation was categorized by planitulsa chapter, in order to understand the alignment between recommendations and the Tulsa Comprehensive Plan (planitulsa). Some recommendations align with multiple chapters, but only one was selected. planitulsa is in the process of being updated, and this chart reflects new proposed chapter designations.

The percentage of complete/on-going recommendations varies by plan chapter, ranging from 22% (Transportation) to 53% (Housing and Communities).

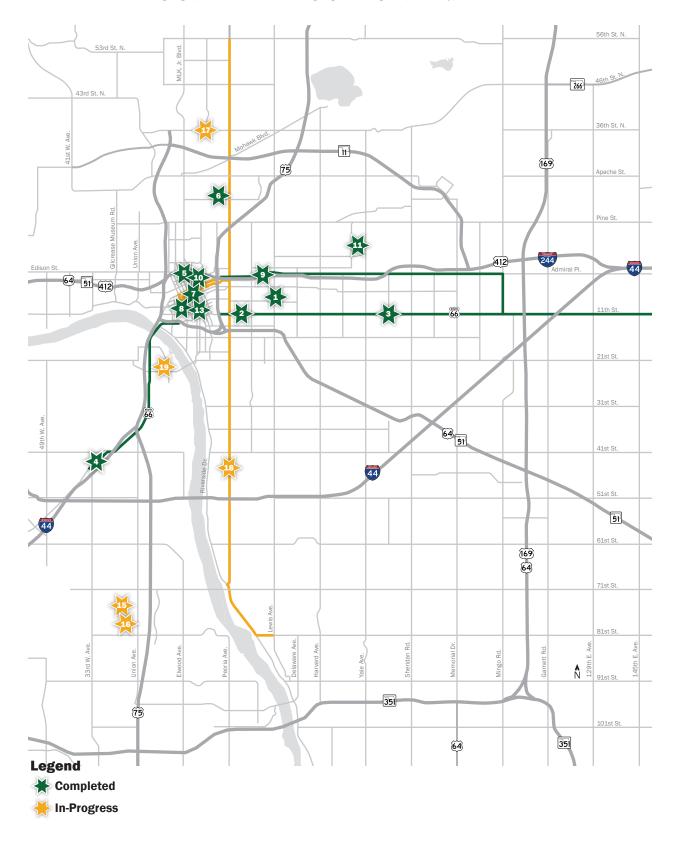

Implementation Status By Plan Area

The percentage complete/on-going varies by plan, ranging from a low of 14.3% to a high of 80%. In general, older plans show a higher level of completion than more recently adopted plans; however, this is not true with the Sequoyah Plan, which has one of the highest percentages of 'not initiated' recommendations. More detailed information on plan area recommendations, excluding the Downtown Walkability Study, is available beginning on page 15. For more information, contact the Tulsa Planning Office.

Project HighlightsNumerous projects have been completed over the past few years which implemented small area plan recommendations. The map below shows the geographic distribution of a highlighted range of project types.

Completed Projects

Land Use

1. West Park Apartments Phases 1 and 2

Completed in 2013, the first phase of the West Park Apartments provided 128 mixed-income rental units in the Kendall-Whittier neighborhood. In addition to the multi-family units, a mixed-use three-story building was developed in partnership with the University of Tulsa and includes management offices, community space and a fitness center for the multi-family development, plus 2,600 square feet of commercial space on the first floor and 20 units of graduate student housing. Phase 2 is currently underway and will include 107 units, 77 of which will be partially funded by lowincome housing tax credits.

What it Implements
Kendall-Whittier Sector Plan, 1.2

2. 11th Street Infill Development

Adopted in 2015, the new Tulsa Zoning Code removed parking requirements for commercial uses less than 5,000 square feet in CH and MX districts. This policy aimed to support infill development and adaptive reuse for smaller businesses. Since adoption of the zoning code, multiple redevelopment projects have occurred on 11th Street (Route 66) and throughout the city that have benefitted from this policy.

What it Implements
Utica Midtown Corridor Small Area Plan: North LU-12

Adopted in 2018, the Route 66 Overlay District Overlay aimed to incentivize the use of neon signs along the route by relaxing certain sign regulations in the zoning code. With the adoption of this overlay, signs along the Route 66 corridor can be taller, larger, project into the public right-of-way in certain circumstances, and include movement or flashing of the neon element. Since adoption of the overlay, the Route 66 Commission has also implemented a neon sign grant program, which provides matching funds up to $10,000 for business owners along Route 66 to purchase or renovate neon signs.

What it Implements
Kendall-Whittier Sector Plan: 8.3

Economic Development

4. Flying Hanger and Route 66 Gateway Arch

The Route 66 Gateway Arch (built in 2014) and Flying Hanger Sculpture (created in 2016) are both located on Southwest Boulevard near the Crystal City shopping center in Tulsa. This location is important to the history of Route 66, as it is the location of the former Crystal City Amusement Park, a popular Route 66 attraction. The Gateway Arch welcomes visitors to Tulsa and brings attention to the city's Route 66 heritage. The 'Flying Hanger' sculpture is a mosaic sculpture dedicated to the transportation history of the city. Both were funded by Vision 2025 funding dedicated to preservation of Route 66.

Southwest Tulsa Small Area Plan: Goal 13

Parks and Natural Resources

5. Guthrie Green

Guthrie Green opened in September 2012 and has since been a catalyst for the redevelopment and adaptive reuse of the industrial and traditional commercial buildings within the Arts District.

Once a location for heavy industry, the site of Guthrie Green has been completely transformed into a demonstration project for green technology. Water runoff is treated through bioswales that allow absorption of the water into the landscape. LED lighting and solar panels help reduce electricity demand, and 150 wells serve ground-source heat pumps at the neighboring Tulsa Paper Company and Hardesty Visual Arts Center.

A key element of Guthrie Green's success is its programming. The George Kaiser Family Foundation and its partners developed an intensive programming plan to attract people to Guthrie Green every day. There are weekly concerts, daily fitness activities, children's activities, and a variety of festivals.

What it Implements
Brady Arts District Small Area Plan: 3.2, 7.1

Housing and Communities

6. Lacy Park Community Center

The Lacy Park Community Center has a variety of programs for youth to be involved in including a fitness center, dance classes, social activities, education programs, tennis courts, playground, picnic tables, outdoor pool, and multi-purpose fields. The Lacy Park Community Center is currently undergoing an expansion to increase and improve services. The new Lacy Park Municipal Pool opened in July 2019 and includes water slides, a rock-climbing wall, a zero-depth entry with play features, and deep end with diving board.

What it Implements
Unity Heritage Neighborhoods Sector Plan: 1.9

The City of Tulsa hired Becky Gligo as its first Housing Policy Director in June 2019. Gligo will be responsible for working with city and state housing agencies, non-profit entities, philanthropic organizations and developers to achieve key outcomes of neighborhood revitalization and affordable housing preservation and development.

Transportation

8. 5th Street and Civic Center Plaza

The Fifth Street extension into the Civic Center Plaza opened in 2016. It replaced an old, unused fountain and other under-used amenities. The two-way, two-lane street with a roundabout improved access to the Tulsa County Courthouse, Aloft Tulsa Downtown Hotel, and the Tulsa Central Library. The project was funded through the City of Tulsa, Tulsa County, Tulsa City-County Library, and the Aloft Hotel.

What it Implements
Downtown Area Master Plan: 7.5

9. Birmingham Avenue Pedestrian Bridge

The Birmingham Avenue Pedestrian Bridge connects north and south Kendall-Whittier. It also has the potential to connect Sequoyah Elementary School and Kendall-Whittier Elementary School. However, lack of maintenance, such as overgrowth on the entrances, has led to the bridge having a perception of poor safety.

Kendall-Whittier Main Street and neighborhood volunteers have trimmed trees, picked up litter, and removed overgrowth to maintain the entrances. ODOT has repaired sections of the concrete at the entrances; however, there is still significant work to be done to make this an inviting place to walk and improve the connections between north and south Kendall-Whittier.

What it Implements
Kendall-Whittier Sector Plan: 2.4

10. Bike Lanes on MLK Jr Blvd and Detroit

Tulsa's first protected bike lanes were striped in 2017 on Martin Luther King Jr. Blvd (southbound) and Detroit Avenue (northbound). They are protected by a row of parked cars. The bike lanes go from E Independence St to E Archer St, crossing under I-244. Since then, downtown bike lanes on Third Street and E Archer Street have also been striped, with more in the design phase. Simultaneously, crosswalks across downtown have been replaced and improved to enhance walkability.

What it Implements

Walkability Study: Bike facilities on MLK Jr Blvd, Detroit Ave, Third St, Archer St; Downtown crosswalk striping

11. Owen Elementary Sidewalks

Sidewalks around Owen Elementary are connected to the adjacent neighborhood by a crosswalk and improved pedestrian signage. However, the sidewalks are overgrown and could be improved with some basic maintenance.

What it Implements

Sequoyah Neighborhood Implementation Plan: Sch 4

12. GO Plan-Bicycle/Pedestrian Master Plan

Adopted in 2017, the GO Plan provides recommendations for bicycle and pedestrian infrastructure, in order to improve connectivity in Tulsa. Funding in Vision Tulsa and Improve Our Tulsa has been used to implement projects, based on prioritization from the plan and the Bicycle Pedestrian Advisory Committee.

What it Implements

Utica Midtown Corridor Small Area Plan: South 6 TR 6.12.d

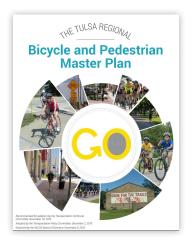

13. Bike Share

This Machine, Tulsa's bike share, launched Phase 1 of their smart bike-sharing system in 2018. Phase 1 included 160 bikes and 25 stations in downtown Tulsa and along Route 66. Phase 2 plans to expand the network to the Pearl District, Kendall-Whittier, SOBO, Cherry Street, Brookside, and the Gathering Place. The goal of Tulsa Bike Share is to improve connectivity through an affordable and convenient bicycle transit system. This program will work synergistically with the implementation of the GO Plan.

14. Short-term rentals

The Tulsa Planning Office is currently updating the zoning code to address short-term rentals such as AirBnB, HomeAway, etc. Recommended regulations include requirements of Airbnb and other short-term rental owners that do not live in the residences to get special exceptions to the zoning code before operating their businesses.

The Tulsa Metropolitan Area Planning Commission (TMAPC) also recommended that the city limit the number of room available to rent to four and the maximum number of people as 8, including permanent residents of the property. Recommendations also include a required license for all short-term rentals in the city. These regulations have been recommended by the TMAPC and are awaiting City Council review and adoption.

What it Implements
Crosbie Heights Small Area Plan: 2.7

The Tulsa Planning Office is currently updating the zoning code to provide a 1-acre agricultural residential zoning category that allows limited livestock in the City of Tulsa. Recommended regulations align with the Tulsa County agricultural residential zoning category. The zoning code amendment is planned for discussion with TMAPC in August 2019.

What it Implements
West Highlands/Tulsa Hills Small Area Plan: 4.6

16. Accessory Dwelling Units

The Tulsa Planning Office is currently updating the zoning code to provide an option for accessory dwelling units by special exception in the City of Tulsa. The intent is to provide an option to increase density and housing affordability, while still recognizing neighborhood character. The zoning code amendment is planned for discussion with TMAPC in August 2019.

Transportation

17. 36th Street North Streetscaping

A street rehabilitation project is planned for 36th Street North. The project will include sidewalks, new bike lanes, and a center turn lane from MLK Jr Blvd to Peoria Ave. The section between the Osage Trail and Peoria will also receive new landscaped medians and street trees. Funding is actively being sought to continue this treatment on the rest of the street. Open houses were held early in the design process to gather community feedback. Construction drawings should be completed by the end of fall 2019, with construction beginning spring 2020.

What it Implements 36th Street North Small Area Plan: 16.3

18. Bus Rapid Transit

Aero Bus Rapid Transit (BRT) implementation is currently in progress and will launch in November 2019. The new Aero BRT will feature modern buses, improved stations with amenities such as sheltered seating, bicycle racks, level boarding, wifi and charging stations, and real-time arrival signals.

The BRT route will go from 54th Street North to 81st Street South, connecting passengers to jobs and many major destinations including downtown, Cherry Street, Brookside, Pearl District, BOK Center, Tulsa Tech Peoria Campus, Gateway market, Shoppes on Peoria, Oral Roberts University, Cityplex Towers, Centennial Park, and the Denver Avenue Station.

Peoria Avenue was chosen for this route because one in seven of the city's residents and 20 percent of jobs are within a 10-minute walk of the corridor. A community engagement process led much of the BRT design, including station stops. The project was funded by Improve our Tulsa and Vision Tulsa.

19. Eugene Field Choice Neighborhoods Initiative

In 2018, the Tulsa Housing Authority and City of Tulsa received a $30 million CHOICE Neighborhoods Initiative (CNI) Grant from the U.S Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to revitalize the Eugene Field Neighborhood.

With grant funding and other local funding,
Tulsa will replace the River Park Apartments and Brightwater Apartments with mixed-income housing.
Additionally, the CNI promotes a comprehensive approach to neighborhood revitalization and will create partnerships to rebuild distressed public and assisted housing; connections to services and programs to improve health, education, and economic outcomes for residents; and conditions necessary for reinvestment in distressed neighborhoods like safety, improved schools, access to healthy food and other neighborhood services.

The project is planned to break ground in late 2019, although many collaborative efforts to address revitalization, such as health and education, are already underway.
